File Types, Resolution & Colour Balance

Please upload JPEG/JPG files with sRGB or Adobe(1998) RGB Profiles. Where possible submit original files and try not to reduce or enlarge the file considerably if editing in advance. Always check your monitor/display isn't excessively bright or contrasted and colour balance is set to normal. Although not exact, this will give the best indication of the final printed result.

Print 'Bleed' & Cropping

Crucial subject matter and text should be kept clear of the sides to avoid cropping.

Cameras, phones and tablets take pictures in different ratios.

Traditional 35mm film was a 2:3 ratio and produced a perfect standard 6x4" photo with no cropping of the image. However, the unlimited ratio options today (eg square, panoramic etc) mean that the blue crop box on the Order Review page often needs to be moved to avoid trimming heads or other crucial subject matter.

When ordering, the website defaults to "Center Crop". The left and middle examples above demonstrate a now common 4:3 file with a 2:3 print output ratio (eg 6x4" photo print). Here the blue crop box needs to be moved up to avoid cutting off the subjects' heads. Alternatively, selecting the "Shrink to Fit" feature fits the image to the print size leaving white strips on two sides (see example above).

Please ensure that you review the cropping of all images prior to finalising your order to avoid disappointment.
